Marriage Match Score Analysis

Varna
The boy's varan is Brahmin and the girl comes under Kshatriya. This combination indicates that the boy could be able to plan well regarding the domestic affairs, and in turn the girl will feel happy to carry out these pursuits nicely. She will be hard working and laborious. The boy may have all praise for her sincerity towards the domestic endeavors. She will also appreciate his keenness in general affairs. A good deal of understanding is indicated by this varan combination, which basically represents the inner urge to take part in the general endeavors of the domestic life. Therefore, both matched well as far as varan compatibility concerned.

Vashya
The boy's vashya is Jalchar, while the girl comes under Manav vashya. This combination indicates difficulties in emotional adjustment between the natives. The boy may feel that she is trying to dominate him. The girl may find that he is lacking in practical approach towards life. A rift may arise on small issues, which they may not even try to over come. Difference of opinion may also lead towards personality clashes. However, if overall compatibility is there, then this combination may be taken into consideration.

Tara
The boy's tara is Sampat and the girl belongs to Atimitra tara. This will be a happy and fruitful match, as these two people have a sound understanding of each other's needs. They also have innately co-operative spirits and will allow each other a fair degree of independence and assertiveness. The natives will be loyal friends and can accomplish much that is constructive through mutual co-operation. They will collectively fight back in odd / adverse situations.

Yoni Kuta
The boy's yoni is Simha and the girl comes under Mahish yoni. Not a very harmonious combination and these two may not find much happiness in their union. Both are allergic to restraints of any kind and will not like playing second party to any one. They are both of the nature to think only in terms of "I" and are guided by their strong ambition and self esteem. One has to be more masterful in order to control the other. Physically, they might face quite a few problems in order to get on well with each other.

Graha Maitri
The boy's rasi lord is Jupiter and the girl comes under Venus lordship. Since, this combination is not overly harmonious, natives can be insincere and hypocritical toward each other in non productive self-indulgent habits. There can be differences in cultural esthetic, religious or educational habits and tastes. The girl may regard the boy as overly concerned with religion, philosophy and cultural institutions. The boy may regard the girl as superficial, self-indulgent and too much concerned about worldly pleasures. If other gunas are matched well, this combination may be taken into consideration.

Gana
The boy's gan is Manushya and the girl comes under Dev gan. The natives will stimulate each other's interest and participation in religious and charitable activities and pursuits, especially when these are combined with social functions. They will be considerate, gentle and generous towards each other and share an inner emotional rapport. The girl can help the boy to make religious, cultural, philosophical or educational interest more personally meaningful and effective. The boy can help the girl to express social and esthetic talents in a way that is effective and meaningful in the larger cultural context.

Rasi
The boy's bhakoot rasi is Meena and the girl comes under Tula bhakoot. Since, this combination is overly harmonious, natives can be insincere and hypocritical towards each other. They may pretend to express sweetness and light, while in reality, they are avoiding unpleasantness or seeking personal or financial gain. They can encourage each other in non-productive, self-indulgent habits or financial extravagance. The girl may regard the boy as overly concerned with religion, philosophic and cultural institutions. The boy may regard the girl as superficial, self-indulgent and hedonistic.

Nadi

The boy's nadi is Aadi and the girl comes under Antya nadi. This is a very good combination. The natives will get on very well with each other. There will be a mutual understanding about each other's moods and feelings. They will encourage each other to his or her best in their respective fields. The natives are apt to deal with each other in an honest, responsible and ethical way. They will have a beneficial influence on each other's sense of timing and organization.
